DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 1-7 and 14-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for "countermeasure threats", does not reasonably provide enablement for "foreign countermeasure threats". The instant specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims. The specification does not describe what a "foreign" countermeasure threat entails, let alone any examples of such "foreign" countermeasure threats. Further, it is not disclosed in the specification, how a "foreign" countermeasure differentiates from a "non-foreign or United States" countermeasure threat.

3. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The preamble of claim 1 specifies a method for testing. However, it is unclear what the method is testing for.

Claim Objections

4. Claims 8-14 are objected to because of the following informalities:

In claim 8, lines 4-6 appear to have a word(s) missing and thus are grammatically lacking. Appropriate correction is required.

Double Patenting

5. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

6. A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

7. Claims 8-13 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 9-15 of U.S. Patent No. 6,341,101 in view of Kendig et al ('245).

The '101 patent to Dutton et al, in claim 9, specifies a launchable acoustic countermeasure device that includes all the elements claimed in the programmable countermeasure threat emulation system of instant claim 8 except for the "power supply."

Kendig et al teaches that launchable torpedo's commonly include a power supply. It would thus, have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to include a power supply within the launchable torpedo of Dutton et al so as to provide for a torpedo countermeasure system that is self-powered.

Dependent claims 9-13 are further provided by similar structure of claims 10-15 of Dutton et al.
